

Estromez - Castelo de Rainha Santa Isabel

The central region of Portugal is covered with cork oak trees. Here's a close-up of a cork trip that has already been stripped.

A look inside our room at the Rainha Santa Isabel - separate beds this night - no doubles available:(

One of the many ornate corridors in the Rainha Santa Isabel.

A view of the lobby which also had wireless internet access available to guests.

Here I stand at the entry to the Pousada Rainha Santa Isabel after a very very long drive from Sagres.

Looking up to the tower.

Estremez - Castelo de Rainha Santa Isabel

That's me waving at the top of the tower. Quite a climb to the top.

A birds-eye view of the village of Estremez.

Another view of the village of Estremez.

A window view at sunset..

The castle sparkles at night.

A fountain in the city square in Estremez.
